A Message from the Principal

To our Collinswood Language Academy families:

This is the second School Progress Report for Collinswood Language Academy. We are sending this to you so that you may be fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

We are pleased to report that our dual-language program is well developed and that our students continue to demonstrate strong academic performance on the state End-of-Grade standardized tests. As you will see, 96.3 percent of our students in grades three through five achieved at or above grade level on the End-of-Grade math test and 83.9 percent achieved at or above grade level in reading. Our total composite score ranks Collinswood among the top-performing schools in the district.

At Collinswood, we believe in creating students who are bilingual and biliterate in Spanish and English. Our program maximizes proficiency in two languages and academic achievement. In kindergarten, the entire day is taught in Spanish, except for 45 minutes of English literacy instruction. In grades one through five, 50 percent of the day is comprised of reading, social studies and math, which are taught in Spanish. Science, reading and writing are taught in English during the remaining 50 percent of the day. The success of our dual-language program is evidenced by a high percentage of students performing at or above grade level in kindergarten through grade five.

Collinswood has more to offer than high test scores, however. The blending of the Latino/Hispanic and American cultures creates a multi-cultural school community where students learn through their respective languages. Our staff includes educators from 13 different Latin American countries and Europe. The richness of each teacher's culture provides students with an enhanced understanding of our global community.

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(17 of 17 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 89.4%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 86.7%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 75.9%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 86.2%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	99%
	Encouragement	100%
	Engagement	100%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

▶ Collinswood Language Academy

Collinswood was the first full K-5 dual-language program in North Carolina and has become a very appealing magnet school. We have found that acquisition of a second language leads to higher test scores, improved listening, increased memory retention and applied problem-solving skills. In addition, students gain an enhanced understanding of international culture.

Our teachers are trained to bring to the classroom effective instructional practices, quality projects and higher-level thinking skills.

Collinswood Language Academy is fortunate to have been designated as one of the International Spanish Academies recognized by the Spanish Ministry of Education and Science of the Kingdom of Spain. This recognition provides our staff with additional Internet resources, specialized training and instructional materials. Students who successfully complete five to six years of bilingual instruction are awarded a diploma from the Spanish Embassy in Washington, D.C.

In 2008, Collinswood received the Magnet Schools of Distinction National Award. We were also evaluated in a School Quality Review and were recognized for our many strengths.

We believe that the potential of each student is achieved through ongoing staff training, strategic planning, the effective use of assessments and quality instruction, coupled with the commitment of every staff member.

Sincerely,
Maria B. Petrea
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.
