

► Idlewild Elementary School

A Message from the Principal

To our Idlewild Elementary School families:

This School Progress Report for Idlewild Elementary is designed to keep you informed about our students' academic progress, our staff, our new facilities and our school environment.

Our 2008-2009 state End-of-Grade test results show that Idlewild made High Growth. Our total composite score was 74.3 percent. In math, our composite score was 86.6 percent, and in reading, we scored 67.2 percent. Science was included in last year's End-of-Grade tests and 58.6 percent of our fifth-grade students performed at or above grade level. Idlewild also made Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. I am very pleased with our results.

We continue to use best practices in teaching to ensure continued progress. Teachers meet weekly and use data to plan their instruction according to students' varying learning levels. This also helps to ensure that students are demonstrating their understanding of the subject matter.

In addition to our core instruction, we offer an intensive reading program to support those who need extra help in reading. After-school tutoring focuses on reading and math, and students who have mastered the material may pursue accelerated learning opportunities.

Idlewild is a highly successful partial-magnet school. We offer a learning immersion program in kindergarten through second grade and a program for gifted students in grades three through five. Once again, we were recognized as a National Magnet School of Distinction, and our Odyssey of the Mind team placed eighth in the world finals in Iowa. Additionally, our students won numerous local, state and

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(21 of 21 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Progress
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 74.4%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 83.7%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 64.3%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 83.2%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	90%
	Encouragement	98%
	Engagement	93%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

national writing awards. They also fared extremely well in national individual competitions such as Math Fax, Word Masters and Science Olympiad.

Our faculty is strong and experienced. We have nine teachers with National Board certification and more than 40 percent of our teachers have advanced degrees. In addition to our classroom teachers, we have three teachers of English as a Second Language, two Exceptional Children teachers, special area teachers, a math facilitator, literacy facilitator and a full-time Talent Development teacher. This year we will add two new classes to our Exceptional Children program.

We are very excited about our first year in the new building. The facilities are excellent and will be a true asset to our students, staff, families and the community. We now use SMART Boards (interactive white boards) in our fourth- and fifth-grade classrooms.

One of the most positive qualities of Idlewild is the diversity of our students, parents and staff, and each year we celebrate this diversity with our International Festival in May.

We remain committed to preparing our students to compete globally and to equip them with 21st-century skills so they may be prepared for the changes and challenges ahead. At Idlewild, we will continue to focus on student learning, strong teaching and high academic achievement. We stand by our mission of Building Scholars, Building Character and Building Dreams.

Sincerely,
Jane Collins
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.

REACH FURTHER.
