A Message from the Principal

To our Lebanon Road Elementary families:

This is the second School Progress Report for Lebanon Road Elementary. It is part of our commitment to keep you fully informed about our students' progress, our highly qualified staff and our school environment.

As you will see, Lebanon Road's third- through fifth-grade students achieved High Growth on the state End-of-Grade math test during the 2008-2009 school year. We are extremely pleased by their efforts. On the reading test, our fourth- and fifth-grade students made Expected Growth. Third-grade students did not make Expected Growth, so we are planning to strengthen that area with our core reading program, Imagine It!, and the Intensive Reading initiative. We fully expect to see great improvement in that area.

So what other steps are we taking to improve our students' academic progress? We are assessing student progress data to analyze what is working and identify areas for improvement. Based on test results, we know that we need to focus on reading comprehension. It is important for all students to understand what they are reading, and we will not be satisfied until every student is making noticeable progress. Our entire staff is committed to a goal of increased academic achievement for our students.

After analyzing our data last year, we identified some areas of concern in math instruction in the lower grades. To address those concerns, we introduced Math Investigations, which was at the time a pilot program for K-2 students. This program gives younger

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(27 of 27 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Progress
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 69.9%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 83.9%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 64.7%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 84.6%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	92%
	Encouragement	96%
	Engagement	94%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

students hands-on experiences that will enable them to better understand abstract concepts in later years. The program was extremely successful and we are using it for all of our K-3 students this year.

Our Lebanon Road staff is second to none. We are fortunate to have very low staff turnover and a healthy blend of veteran and beginning teachers. Their experience ranges from one year to 37 years. The teachers for each grade level plan their lessons collaboratively, allowing them to share insights, knowledge and strategies. Our students benefit from the experience of every teacher and well-planned lessons that address the North Carolina Standard Course of Study requirements as well as needs identified in each child's assessment data.

Lebanon Road Elementary is fortunate to have a strong PTA Board of Directors, a growing number of community partnerships and parents who support our school. At Lebanon Road, we believe in the ABCs: A for academic achievement; B for behaviors to support learning, and C for communication with families. Those three elements continue to drive our teaching.

We welcome your input, so please contact us with your feedback, ideas or suggestions for improvement.

Sincerely,
Guyla M. Vardell

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.

REACH FURTHER.
