A Message from the Principal

To our McKee Road Elementary School families:

This is the second School Progress Report for McKee Road Elementary. It is clear that our students and staff enjoyed much success during the 2008-2009 school year. Our accomplishments were not coincidental: Success came through the cooperation and hard work of McKee families and our staff members.

During the last school year, our entire staff worked to develop and apply a teaching plan that meets the needs of individual students. In order to improve students' reading skills, we used a number of research-based reading strategies, including our Intensive Reading program for K-3 students. Additionally, all teacher assistants and special-area teachers were trained to work with small groups of students. We continue to monitor student performance and identify what students need to learn in order to read well.

We also introduced a tutorial program for small groups of students to help improve reading comprehension skills. It is our intention to refine this program during the upcoming school year. We will contact you during the school year if we find that your child would benefit from this service. In addition, the McKee Road staff works in tandem with parent volunteers to provide small-group instruction and support on a weekly basis in many of our classes.

McKee Road students performed well on the 2008-2009 End-of-Grade tests. Results show that 93 percent of students in grades three through five scored at or above grade level in math. In reading, 89.8 percent of our students showed proficiency, and our fifth graders achieved 82.2 percent proficiency on the End-of-Grade science test. I am pleased to report that McKee Road Elementary

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(13 of 13 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 89.8%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 82.6%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 58.2%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 75.4%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	96%
	Encouragement	99%
	Engagement	98%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

made Adequate Yearly Progress goals, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act, by meeting all 13 of our targets. Although we are happy with the gains made last year, we plan to continually seek ways to improve and increase student achievement.

Our professional development focus this year will include SMART Board (interactive whiteboard) training and integrating this technology into instruction. Teachers will also undergo training to introduce a writer's workshop across the curriculum. They will be supported by a writing consultant who will teach model lessons, conduct staff training sessions and provide suggestions and feedback. The McKee Road PTA is to be commended for providing financial support for these initiatives. Staff and parents clearly share the same expectations, vision and goals for our students.

We will also continue providing teachers with differentiated instruction in reading. This will help them adapt the curriculum to individual student learning levels. In short, we are dedicated to providing teachers with the tools they need to do their job effectively.

We look forward to working with you during the 2009-2010 school year. Together, we will provide the children of our community with the skills and principles needed for future success.

Sincerely,
Lane Price
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.

REACH FURTHER.
