A Message from the Principal

To our Rama Road Elementary School families:

This is the second School Progress Report for Rama Road Elementary. We are sending this to you so that you may be fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

Our composite math score in 2008-2009 was 67.5 percent proficient. This means that two-thirds of our students in grades three, four and five were considered on grade level in math. Last year, students not reaching grade level were allowed to retake the End-of-Grade tests. In addition, our school made Expected Growth in math.

In reading, our retest composite score was 54.2 percent. Well done to our students and staff!

We did not make Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. We did come very close, meeting 26 of our 27 targets (97 percent). We increased the number of targets met from the 2007-2008 school year.

So what are we doing to continue this progress and improve our students' academic achievement? This year, Rama Road will receive Title I funds to help our most at-risk students. This designation is a response to our growing population of students who receive free and reduced-price lunch. We will use these funds to recruit additional staff and purchase materials to help those third- through fifth-grade students who are below grade level in reading.

Our staff is working collaboratively on a weekly basis to plan meaningful, engaging lessons. We are using data to make instructional decisions, and we consistently differentiate instruction to better meet the needs of our diverse learners. We will offer after-school tutoring for select third-, fourth- and fifth-grade students beginning in early February. We will also provide targeted

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID NOT make AYP
(26 of 27 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: Priority School
(DID NOT meet growth expectations)

Proficiency: 59.7%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 79.7%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 51.0%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 78.4%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	94%
	Encouragement	100%
	Engagement	97%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

interventions and remediation for those students needing additional support in the classroom. These initiatives will help our students succeed.

Our faculty is strong and stable. This year the Rama Road staff includes 46 certified teachers and 13 instructional assistants. Of last year's staff, 31 percent held advanced degrees and 21 percent were National Board-certified.

Rama Road has established several community partnerships with organizations such as Sardis Presbyterian Church, Country Day School, Providence Day School and Providence Baptist Church. These partnerships have provided additional funding, equipment, books and supplies for our students, as well as numerous volunteer hours. Volunteers support our media program, provide office support and, most importantly, tutor and mentor our students.

We will continue to provide enrichment activities for our students at Rama Road, including a Talent Development program for grades two through five. We also offer a variety of clubs and activities to help support students' social and emotional growth and maturity, including a chess club, Odyssey of the Mind, Math Stars and Student Council. Additionally, we reward positive behavior and achievement with an honor roll and Kiwanis "Terrific Kids" program.

I am confident that we will see continued growth this year at Rama Road. Our staff is dedicated, our students are focused and hard working and our parents and community are supportive. This combination will ensure that our students demonstrate continued improvement and success.

Sincerely,
Brian Bambauer
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.

REACH FURTHER.
