A Message from the Principal

Dear Sharon Elementary School parents:

This is our annual School Progress Report for Sharon Elementary. The purpose of this report is to keep you fully informed about our students' academic progress, our staff and our school environment.

Sharon Elementary School has a history of delivering quality instruction. We use teaching strategies that develop and enhance students' problem-solving, communication and critical-thinking skills. Our instructional strategies are influenced by Howard Gardner's theory of the eight multiple intelligences: bodily-kinesthetic (learning through physical movement), spatial, logical-mathematical, musical, intrapersonal, interpersonal, linguistic and naturalistic. In combination, these intelligences help students understand their personal strengths.

Last year, we piloted the innovative Math Investigations program in the lower grades. The teachers are very pleased with the quality of this program since it provides a variety of activities to allow students to demonstrate and expand their understanding of math concepts. We are using the program throughout the school this year.

Sharon Elementary met 13 out of 13 targets to make Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. We also showed growth on the End-of-Grade tests, by achieving a composite proficiency rate of 88 percent. Not only did our academic achievement increase, so did our school population. We began the school year with approximately 735 students, up from 643 last year.

Sharon Elementary School has an established and experienced staff, and we have very low staff turnover. These factors combine to help us maintain our high level of academic instruction and outstanding

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(13 of 13 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 88.0%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 83.9%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 65.8%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 82.1%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	98%
	Encouragement	100%
	Engagement	99%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

school events. We have 21 staff members with master's degrees and several more who are enrolled in graduate programs. Seven teachers are National Board-certified and three more are in the process of obtaining certification.

Sharon Elementary is very fortunate to have a strong PTA. We have more than 80 PTA board members. The support of the PTA enhances our school community by offering numerous after-school activities and sponsoring professional development opportunities for the staff.

We provide numerous extracurricular opportunities for students to extend their learning. We offer Odyssey of the Mind, chess club, Play Spanish and a variety of other academic or sports clubs. Students in grades three through five may join the school chorus, MI Express, which performs at community and school events throughout the year. We support and encourage participation in these activities as they help strengthen relationships with staff, parent and community volunteers and peers.

The staff and I are committed to continuing our tradition of academic success. We provide a safe and orderly learning environment that allows our students to thrive intellectually and socially. We are dedicated to making our students' elementary experiences exciting and memorable.

Sincerely,
Catherine Phelan

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.
