A Message from the Principal

To our J.V. Washam Elementary School families:

As part of our strong focus on communicating the progress of J.V. Washam Elementary with our families, we are delighted to share this latest School Progress Report.

In grades three through five, 88.2 percent of our students performed at or above grade level on the End-of-Grade tests in math, reading and fifth-grade science. We are very proud of this accomplishment and we look forward to making further strides in 2009-2010.

The outstanding growth we saw on the End-of-Grade tests earned us the designation of a School of Distinction with High Growth status. This means that more than 80 percent of our third- through fifth-grade students are on grade level and made more than one year of growth in a year's time. Kudos to our students and staff for staying focused all year and doing their very best.

We also made Adequate Yearly Progress, the standard set for schools by the No Child Left Behind Act. We are proud to say that we met all 13 of our targets.

There is still room for improvement and we must continue to ensure that all of our students continue to grow academically at very high levels. We will work, therefore, to extend the knowledge of those who are mastering skills while attempting to narrow the achievement gaps between our diverse groups of students. We will continue to work together in teams to learn new strategies and apply research-based teaching tools.

We will also continue to provide opportunities for our teachers and staff to learn so they are able to interpret students' needs and create

CMS Accountability Measures

The learning of students in public education is measured in multiple ways. There are assessments given at regular intervals by CMS—tests that we use to measure how students are learning as the school year progresses. Other tests are required by the state and given once or twice a year, such as End-of-Course and End-of-Grade tests. Some of the state test results are also used to calculate district progress on the federal standard of Adequate Yearly Progress for each student. This page provides brief explanations of some of the measures and tests used in CMS.

► Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP)

Our school DID make AYP
(13 of 13 goals met)

The federal No Child Left Behind Act requires that every school make Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP). AYP is an all-or-nothing standard: Every target must be met.

State test results are used to set AYP targets. There are separate targets for the school as a whole and for nine subgroups of students: white, black, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, multiracial, economically disadvantaged students, students with limited English proficiency and students with disabilities. Subgroups of students are measured separately so that an overall score for a class or a school does not mask poor results within a subgroup.

Some schools are more diverse than others, so the number of subgroups varies by school. Therefore, the number of AYP targets varies by school, too. Some schools may have only a few targets to meet; others may have the maximum, which is 41. School attendance and graduation rates are also measured for AYP.

For a more complete overview of AYP, visit www.dpi.state.nc.us/nclb/abcayp/overview/ayp

For details of AYP results for our school and its student groups, visit <http://ayp.ncpublicschools.org>

► ABC Designation

Our school's designation: School of Distinction
(DID meet high growth expectations)

Proficiency: 88.3%

The North Carolina ABCs program was introduced more than a decade ago to help schools improve. It uses two basic measures to assess a school's performance: the Average Growth of students (at right); and the Performance Composite, which measures how well students performed against a state-set standard of academic achievement.

Schools are given one of seven designations. In descending order, they are: Honor School of Excellence, School of Excellence, School of Distinction, School of Progress, No Recognition, Priority School, and Low Performing.

For more information about ABCs, visit <http://abcs.ncpublicschools.org/abcs>

► Average Growth

State Standard: 80%
Our School: 83.3%

Did our students meet the state's expectation for academic growth? Each student is expected to perform as well (or better) on the End-of-Grade assessment as he or she did, on average, during the previous two years. Average Growth for a school is calculated by comparing actual performance to expected performance and then averaging the difference across all students and all subjects. The score above reflects the combined growth rate of all of our students. To make expected growth, a school must have a score of 80% or higher.

► Students Making or Exceeding a Year's Worth of Growth

State Standard: 60%
Our School: 61.2%

Did our students learn as much as they were expected to learn this year? As described above, the state sets expectations for each student based on individual performance for the previous two years. Across the state, about half of students typically meet or exceed this growth expectation. To earn the high-growth designation, a school must meet the average-growth standard described above and also have more than 60% of its students make expected growth.

► Amount of Growth for Students in the Lowest Achieving Group

Our School: 82.2%

Are we helping our low achievers catch up? Historically, some poor and minority students have trailed their classmates in academic achievement. This is called the achievement gap, and closing it is one of the biggest challenges in public education. If the lower-achieving students at a school show academic growth at a faster rate than higher-achieving students, the achievement gap is narrowed. When the percentage for this measure is higher than the Average Growth for the school, the school is closing the achievement gap.

► Positive Responses to Multiple Student Survey Items

Our School's Results:	Safety	93%
	Encouragement	99%
	Engagement	93%

Do our students perceive this school as safe and welcoming? This measure is subjective—it is taken from a student survey.

strategies to better support them. Additional training for our teachers can only benefit our students.

The faculty at J.V. Washam is strong and I am proud of the number of teachers continuing to grow in our profession and earning advanced degrees and certifications. Many of our teachers are working toward National Board certification. This will equip them to model lifelong learning for our children and create engaging and exciting learning opportunities.

The nurturing and safe learning environment we have created at our school is a great source of pride. Surveys of parents, teachers and students show that this is a school that our community is proud of and a place where families want to be. Our emphasis on quality work, responsibility, good behavior, manners and community permeates the school. These qualities, along with a vibrant Parent Teacher Organization, help us create a true school team of parents, students and teachers that encourages student success.

I am confident that we will continue to show progress in meeting all of our goals, while maintaining a supportive environment for our students and their families. On behalf of the faculty and staff, I thank all those who have contributed to another successful school year.

Sincerely,
Raymond J. Giovanelli
Principal

What is the School Progress Report?

In 2006, we introduced the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools Strategic Plan 2010 outlining our vision and strategy to educate our students to compete locally, nationally and internationally.

The plan outlines seven areas of concentration: high academic achievement; effective educators; adequate resources and facilities; safe and orderly schools; freedom and flexibility with accountability; world-class service, and strong parent and community connections. This report summarizes how our school performed in the 2008-09 school year in making progress on these seven goals. On page 3, you will also find an explanation of federal and state accountability measures.

Educators and parents have a common goal of preparing our children to compete in an ever-growing global community. Working together requires frequent dialogue between school and parents, so please feel free to contact the principal or any staff member at our school.
